

Allow me to greet you:

PARTNER WITH AUTHOR JOY E. RANCATORE

PARTNERSHIPS MATTER

I choose to partner with libraries and local bookshops because libraries are the heart and indie bookstores are the hands and feet of our literary communities. You feed story-loving souls, and I offer my words and services as additions to your bookish banquet. Partnerships between an author and you allow shy readers a chance to interact with writers whose words touch their souls and launch timid writers on their path toward publication. I know because I've participated in both situations ... and many similar ones.

SERVICES

In addition to standard book signings and readings, I offer:

- Digital Book Club Kits and in-person or virtual club visits
- Workshops for writers of all ages and levels
- Workshops and lectures on various reading- and literature-related topics
- Promotion of literary partners on my website, social media and newsletter
- Hosting of year-round virtual reading challenges in a dedicated reader community

ABOUT JOY

Joy E. Rancatore is an award-winning, multi-genre indie author focused on writing the soul with heart, while providing experiences that bring readers and authors together to #ShareTheRead. She is the author of seven currently published books. As Director of Programs and Engagement with Write|Publish|Sell and the Women in Publishing Summit, an editor for indie authors and a frequent writing workshop leader for teens and adults, Joy values and invests in the publishing industry on a daily basis.

HOW CAN I POSITIVELY IMPACT YOUR LITERARY COMMUNITY?

joy@joyerancatore.com

www.joyerancatore.com